

They were all very fond of bread and sugar; and I distributed what remained of these articles, among them, while Shunghie and the other chiefs drank the tea. — In about two hours, we proceeded to the cove where we had left the war canoe on Monday morning. — The distance we had to walk was about eight miles, and our party consisted of twenty-five persons, all natives of New Zealand, except Mr. Nicholas and myself. — In about three hours' time we reached the cove, here we stopped and took dinner, and afterward set off for the ~~Brig-~~^{Active}

When we had got within seven miles of the village we met Duatua in his war canoe, with a supply of provisions, particularly tea, sugar, and bread; he was apprehensive we should want these articles, as we had been absent one day longer than was intended when we left the Active. — As Shunghie and Duatua approached each other, they mutually fired a piece, which is held by them as a mark of respect. — These two canoes were nearly matched, and these chiefs were determined to try their strength and skill to see which would go the quickest. — Shunghie commanded one and Duatua the other; they both ran at so rapid a rate, that it was not possible to tell at times which had the advantage, we were much amused with the exact order they
